

University of Zagreb
Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences
Doctoral Programme in Linguistics

No. 2023-07/02

The following was adopted at an e-session of the DP Linguistics Council on 26th June 2023:

DECISION

On the initiation of the application process for enrolment in the Doctoral Programme in Linguistics in Croatian and in the Doctoral Programme in Linguistics in English in the academic year 2023/2024.

The following conditions are for enrolment in the Doctoral Programme in Linguistics in Croatian and English:

- completed university graduate degree of philological orientation or related non-philological orientations,
- average of Diploma study grades at least 4.00 (validated for studying in English)
- two teachers' recommendations (see “Academic reference instructions” under ‘Application’), of which one is written by the candidate’s potential thesis supervisor (the supervisor includes their Letter of Consent along with their recommendation for the candidate)
- expanded summary of the research proposal (Annex document)
- motivation letter – up to 2000 characters (programme in English)
- CV (<https://europa.eu/europass/en/create-europass-cv>)
- motivational conversation

- enrollment number: 30 (for the programme in Croatian), 15 (for the programme in English)
- Tuition per semester: 1,327,23 EUR

The study programme will be launched in the academic year 2023/2024 if there are at least five candidates who will pay the tuition fees themselves or the tuition fees will be covered by the institutions of their employment.

Candidates can apply for the Doctoral programme in Linguistics from 1st until 30th September 2023. Only complete applications that include all listed documents will be considered.

For the programme in English, all necessary information as well as the application form can be found at
<https://dpl.ffzg.unizg.hr>

In Zagreb, 26th June 2023

Head of DS Linguistics
Ida Raffaelli, PhD, full professor